

5 Evening Prayers for Rest

A Free Gift from The Lazy Creator Co.

THE LAZY CREATOR CO.

Welcome

Hi, I'm Michael — the person behind The Lazy Creator Co. Mornings get all the attention in most devotional stuff, but I needed something for the other end of the day too — a way to actually put the day down instead of dragging it into bed with me. Five short prayers, one for each night this week. Read one before you sleep, sit with the verse, and let the release line be the last thing you do before the lights go off.

If this rhythm helps, you'll love 365 Days of Trusting God — the full year-long version of learning to actually let go.

DAY 1

A Prayer for Letting Go

I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, LORD, only makest me dwell in safety.

— Psalm 4:8 (KJV)

Lord, I'm setting today down now — the parts I got right and the parts I didn't. I don't have to carry it into the night. You were awake for all of it, and You'll be awake for what tomorrow needs too. Let my body actually rest, not just stop moving.

Tonight's Release

Tonight's release: name one thing from today you're still holding, and hand it over before you close your eyes.

DAY 2

A Prayer for Unfinished Things

Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ.

— Philippians 1:6 (KJV)

God, the list wasn't finished today. It won't be finished tomorrow either, probably. Help me remember that You're not waiting on my to-do list to close the loop on the work You're actually doing in me. What's undone can wait until morning.

Tonight's Release

Tonight's release: write down the one unfinished thing that's loudest right now, then close the notebook.

DAY 3

A Prayer for a Quiet Heart

Be still, and know that I am God.

— Psalm 46:10 (KJV)

Lord, my mind is still running even though the day is over. Slow it down. I don't need an answer to everything tonight — I just need to be still long enough to remember You're still God, even over the parts I couldn't control today.

Tonight's Release

Tonight's release: sit in silence for sixty seconds before you check your phone one last time.

DAY 4

A Prayer for Tomorrow

Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof.

— Matthew 6:34 (KJV)

God, I can feel tomorrow trying to crowd into tonight. Keep it there, on its own side of the line. You'll meet me in the morning with exactly what I need for it — not a minute before. Tonight only needs tonight.

Tonight's Release

Tonight's release: if a tomorrow-worry shows up, say it out loud once, then set it down.

DAY 5

A Prayer of Gratitude Before Sleep

In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.

— 1 Thessalonians 5:18 (KJV)

Lord, before I sleep, let me actually notice what today held — not just what went wrong. Thank You for the ordinary parts too, the ones I usually skip past. Let gratitude be the last thing on my mind tonight, not the leftover stress.

Tonight's Release

Tonight's release: name three small good things from today, out loud, before you turn off the light.

Keep the Practice Going

These five nights are just a taste. If this rhythm helped you, The Lazy Creator Co. has a full library built for exactly this: a year-long devotional journal to keep the practice going every single night, and a full library of illustrated Bible story books for the kids in your life.

365 Days of Trusting God

The full year-long devotional journal this sampler comes from.

The Little Lights Bible Story Library

30 illustrated books bringing scripture to life for kids.

Find the whole collection at thelazycreatorcompany.com