

5 Prayers for Building Something New

A Free Gift from The Lazy Creator Co.

THE LAZY CREATOR CO.

Welcome

Hi, I'm Michael — the person behind The Lazy Creator Co. I build things for a living, mostly alone, mostly one small unglamorous step at a time. This came out of the days when the doubt was louder than the progress. Five short prayers for whatever you're building right now — a business, a project, a habit, a comeback. Read one each morning before you open your laptop, sit with the verse, and let the build focus line actually shape the day.

If you're building something and need done-for-you content to go with it, check out the Content Packs in the Marketplace — hooks, captions, and 30-day calendars, built by niche.

DAY 1

A Prayer for Starting

For who hath despised the day of small things?

— Zechariah 4:10 (KJV)

Lord, what I'm building today looks small — barely anything, most days. Help me not despise it just because it's small right now. You've never been put off by a small beginning. Let me keep showing up to the unimpressive part of this.

Build Focus

Build focus: do the one small next step today, even if it feels too small to matter.

DAY 2

A Prayer for Facing Doubt

We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair.

— 2 Corinthians 4:8 (KJV)

God, the doubt showed up again today — the voice asking if this is even worth building. Let me feel the doubt without obeying it.

Troubled isn't the same as done. Help me keep working with the doubt in the room instead of waiting for it to leave first.

Build Focus

Build focus: name today's doubt, then do the work anyway for twenty minutes.

DAY 3

A Prayer for Steady Work

So built we the wall... for the people had a mind to work.

— Nehemiah 4:6 (KJV)

Lord, most of building is just showing up again tomorrow. Not the exciting part, the steady part. Give me a mind to work today — not motivation, just willingness. Let the wall get built one unglamorous section at a time.

Build Focus

Build focus: put in one steady hour today, whether you feel like it or not.

DAY 4

A Prayer Against Comparison

But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.

— Galatians 6:4 (KJV)

God, I scrolled past someone further along today and felt it in my chest. Help me measure my own work against what You've actually called me to build, not against someone else's highlight reel. Let me finish my own thing instead of grading it against theirs.

Build Focus

Build focus: close the tab that's fueling comparison, then go finish your own work.

DAY 5

A Prayer for What It's For

And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men.

— Colossians 3:23 (KJV)

Lord, let today's work — even the boring parts, even the parts nobody will ever see — be offered to You, not just performed for whoever's watching. Remind me why I actually started this, underneath the numbers and the noise.

Build Focus

Build focus: before you check the numbers today, write down the real reason you're building this.

Keep Building

These five prayers are just a starting point. If you're building a real thing and need the content side handled too, The Lazy Creator Co. has done-for-you packs built by niche — and a full library of resources for the rest of what you're building, whatever that looks like.

The Marketplace

Content packs, courses, and bundles for 10 niches — done-for-you, buy once.

The Activity Vault

5,330 activities across five modules, for the educators building something too.
